

We equip parents with tools to fight and win the battle against dangers online.

Jesse and Sarah Siegand
FOUNDERS

WHO WE ARE

Jesse and Sarah Siegand are parents of two boys, ages 10 and 12. When their kids started to relay information about classmates viewing pornography and having their own smart phones in the first and third grades, Jesse and Sarah began researching what more could be done to protect families from dangers online. Their research led them to a national conference where they learned from top experts in online safety, and a fire was lit to bring this information to others. Armed with practical knowledge and a passion to protect kids, they presented a simple workshop at their local school, and Parents Who Fight was born. Since then, they've been asked to speak to other schools, churches, and community groups about the importance of understanding dangers online and how parents can fight to protect their kids' healthy futures.

THE SEMINARS

Parents Who Fight seminars cover the latest research and insight from leading organizations about online safety issues such as: pornography, predators, sexting, social media risks, anonymous apps, cyberbullying, and more. You'll walk away with practical tools, strategies, and resources to better protect your kids online and preserve their healthy futures. Seminars can be customized to fit your specific parent audience, from parents of younger children and tweens, to parents of teens.

BOOK A SEMINAR!

For more information, go to parentswhofight.com

ParentsWhoFight.com
parentswhofight@gmail.com

"A Parents Who Fight presentation is one that all parents must see! They do an effective job communicating the urgency of why we need to protect our kids while online. I left this workshop with strategies and resources to immediately start fighting the battle in my home."

Chad High, Principal
Granbery Elementary School

After attending a Parents Who Fight class I walked away so energized! Instead of being fearful, I was excited to start conversations with my kids and I felt like I had taken a huge step in helping them by educating myself! I get excited to link arms with Parents Who Fight and families in my community!"

Sally, mom of 3

We recently hosted a "Parents Who Fight Night" at our church and it was awesome! Our parents LOVED it. Jesse and Sarah did a fantastic job presenting the problem that our families face and the need to go to battle for our kids. Their material was engaging, easy-to-follow, and challenging. We are already planning another, larger event!

Patrick Nix, Children's pastor
The Church at Grace Park

@ParentsWhoFight